BOARD POLICY

GIFTS

2.20010 BP

When a gift of property is offered to the district; and it is determined by the chancellor that the gift contributes to the mission, goals, and objectives of the district and is in no way conditional upon the performance of any obligation by the district; the chancellor will be empowered to accept such a gift.

When a gift, other than a scholarship, offered to the district imposes a requirement that the gift is to be used for a specific purpose, or if the acceptance expressly or implicitly carries with it any obligation of the district, the gift will be accepted only by board action.

A donation that equals at least one-quarter of the architectural estimated cost of the building enables the donor to recommend a name for that building. The recommendation shall usually be a designated individual, corporation, or organization. The final name of the building shall be recommended to the board of trustees by the chancellor.

A donation that equals the architectural estimated cost of a particular room, including classroom, laboratory, library, theatre, gallery, or office enables the donor to recommend a name for that space. The recommendation shall usually be a designated individual, corporation, or organization. The final name of the space shall be recommended to the board of trustees by the chancellor.

This policy shall not limit the authority of the board of trustees to designate or redesignate names for a building or room.

The chancellor will develop appropriate regulations for the review of gifts given to the district. Such regulations shall ensure that gifts do not discriminate against any person on the grounds of race, color, religion, sex, age, birth, ancestry, national origin, or physical handicap.

The chancellor shall report annually to the board on the acceptance of gifts.
