The cohort consists of first-time college students with full-time status (taking 12 or more credit hours) who are degree seeking. The percentage of students from that cohort who complete their degree within three years (150% of the time it would normally take to earn a two year degree while attending full-time) at the community college are reflected in the graduation rate. A first-time full-time freshman who initially enrolled in Fall 1998 and was awarded their Associates of Arts degree by Spring 2001 would be counted. For those students who are seeking a certificate that would normally take one year, are counted if they complete their certificate with in one and half years.

The cohort consists of first-time college students with full-time status (taking 12 or more credit hours) who are degree seeking. The percentage of students from that cohort who transfer within three years (150% of the time it would normally take to earn a two year degree while attending full-time) at the community college are reflected in the transfer rate. For example a first-time full-time freshman who initially enrolled in Fall 1998 and transfer to another college or university between Spring 1999 and Spring 2001 would be counted.
